

SANDRINGHAM HOUSE

I am delighted to have this opportunity to welcome everyone who is participating in The Radio Society of Great Britain's youth event 'Youngsters on the Air 2017'. The skills involved in amateur radio are a valuable foundation for careers in science, technology, engineering and maths. I hope that all those taking part in this event will gain valuable experience for their chosen career. I wish all participants a very enjoyable week, and trust that the friendships formed will last long after the conclusion of the summer camp.

A handwritten signature in cursive script, appearing to read 'Philip'.

Patron
The Radio Society of Great Britain